The Charleston Convention.

Our telegraphic despatches from Charleston this morning are quite voluminous, though by no means decisive of the final result. Although Mr. Douglas seems to be the first choice of a majority of the Delegates, the opposition to him is formidable and determinod. The South, it would seem, insists upon the alternative of a Southern Platform or a Southern Cardidate. Douglas has announced that he will not accept a nomination upon the former, and cannot, of course, be upon the former, and cannot, of course, be selected as the latter. The star of Mr. Hun-TER, of Virginia, was in the ascendant, yesterday, but may suffer eclipse to-day.

Several of the Southern States openly threaten to secode if their demands are not complied with. If they are earnest in this

S. EXE IN THE HOUSE .- PUNNING EXTRA-ORDINARY.—While the Pryor-Potter controversy was going on in Washington, a vote of the House was called upon some minor mat-ters. When Mr. Potter's name was called, an old Butch member from Pennsylvania, who nover takes up time unless he has some-thing to say to the point, rose in his place and excused Mr. Potter thus:—"Mishter about four feet wider than Musical Fund

CHARLESTON, April 21.

The impression is that the Douglas delegates from Baltimore will be admitted as regulars, though a test issue may possibly be made if the South should be able to concentrate its strength.

I hear for a certainty that three of the Delaware delegates are for Mr. Breckinridge; that the preferences of Gen. Ross are unknown, while Senator Bayard and Representative Whitley are for Mr. Hunter.

If Mr. Douglas be defeated, a formidable movement will be made for Mr. Guthrie by the delegates from New England and New York, if any encouragement from the South be given outside of Kentucky. There is a strong inclination in that direction already, seconded by quiet influence from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Black verbally declined accepting the invitation, without explanation.

This action of Gov. Walker grows out of the testimony of Mr. Schnable, of Pennsylvania, before the Covode Committee. That part of Mr. Schnable's testimony which led Mr. Walker to take this course is as follows:

complied with. If they are earnest in this threat, there are Doughfaces enough among the Northern Delegates to give them all they are. Mr. Calen Coshing, the President of the Convention, is a political "Major Dalecock to preside over the deliberations of the Charleston conclave, would seem to indicate that "soldiers of fortune" compose the majority of that body. If that be so, the heaviest purse and the shrewdest "propitiator" will win the nomination.

That in point of fact, however, he said, the story was not founded in truth, or words to that effect. Many severe remarks passed between us He was in a state of great excitement. When I referred a second time to my having seen it, he again, in high rage, declared that I was in gross error; that the President never wrote such a document; and if Governor Walker, or any other person, pretended to have such a document, it was a mere pretence to cover up a perpetrated or intended treason to the democratic party, or a mere pretext for desertion to the black republican ranks. It is rumoted that other challenges may grow out of the testimony of Mr. Schoable and Governor Walker, involving other members of the Cabinet.

At the terminus of their road in Hestonville, the terminus of their road in Hestonville, this Company have just completed the construction of a splendid depot. The building is one hundred and sixty feet long by sixty feet wide. The ground floor has ample room for the storage of fifty cars. Attached to the main building is a line stable, having stall room for one hundred and forty horses. The arrangements of the stable combine cleanliness, light, ventilation and durability, with perfect safety from fire. The second floor of the main building is arranged for public assemblages, balls, or pic-nics. This room is one hundred and thirty feet in length, twenty-eight feet high, and sixty feet wide, or about four feet wider than Musical Fund Hall. Attached to the ball-room are retiging and dressing-rooms and closets for ladies, while on the third floor front are accommodated.

A Lying Witness.

The News of yesterday publishes a letter, dated at Washington, from its notorious correspondent "Sioux," alias A. F. PRATT, which rather exceeds anything we have yet seen in print, for its wanton and malignant fals-Loods in regard to John F. Potter .-We copy a few paragraphs, as fair specimens of this lying production: I find that this Potter and Pryor affair has created the hearths force and right seat as courted in resourcement at home than here.

The facts of the case are simply these. Mr. Politer sent to the reporter for the Globe and interpolated in 1.5 septer certain offensive language for buncombe, which be had never used, thinking it would be overlosed by Pryor, and do him good among his fighting constituents.

Pryor discovered this and called him to an account, and i d to achaliengs. Some days after Pryor had of the city. Potter gave notice to Pryor's friend that the would accept the challenge, and selected bowle

Mr. Pryora includ, in his assentia, which is, out as soon as Pryor returned he agreed it fight than his his own weapons.

Potter then managed to get his friends to complain of then thath, and put them under bonds, and before they hid get a police officer to do it, they were complained to boke him. This lean prov.

The store and Initia came out and pronounced Putter a coward, and a bully, Act; and his Southern than the would cowhide the editor of that paper to day, but this morning if am toldy heleft for Wisconsin out are lay high.

Every one of the statements made by PRATE, in regard to the origin, the progress and the termination of the difficulty, between Messrs. Potter and Payon, is a lie out of whele cloth; manufactured at Washington for home circulation. Happily, the public have been so fully informed as to the facts of the case, that the miserable fictions of such rickless and mendacious partisans as A. F. PEATT impose upon no one. As to the threat which he holds out, we have only to any that if Mr. PRYOR, or any of his Southem backers, or Northern lickspittles and sympathizers take in hand the business of "whipping" Mr. POTTER, they wil lbe too happy to let the job out, before they have got half through with it. We are glad to know, from unimpeschable authority, that at Washington, as throughout Wisconsin, the bearing and conduct of John F. Potter, in every stage of the difficulty with PRYOR, is regarded by gentlemen of all parties as that of a tius man. Certainly it meets with the enthusiastic approbation of his constituents, Denicerats as well as Republicans; and of that fact "Sinux" and other lying witnesses against him will be abundantly convinced on the very first opportunity the People get to show in what estimation they held their isithful and farless Representative.

It will be seen from the above statements that the reveipts of grain at Milwaukee, since tongues, no longer fascinates, but only January 1st, exceed the receipts at Detroit by upwards of five hundred thousand bushels. The receipts of flour cannot fairly be included in comparing the commerce of the two cities, because the amount of this article put down as received at Detroit, since the beginning of the year, embraces some 30,000 barrels shipped from this city to the New York from Chicago by the Michigan Central.

A PERSONAL MATTER. --- Mr. LOVEJOY die d at Gov. SEWARD's on Friday of last week, with Gov. McRaz, of Mississippi, and other fire eaters, who were sociable enough. Before leaving the table, the host inquired why the Southerners had sat so still while Lucasor was pitching into slavery and them, but kicked up a dust when he took a religious view of the question? "Why," said Gov. McRaz, "we were dumb with astonishment when our institutions were attacked and didn't recover until Loverov changed his topic," "No, no!" exclaimed Loveyor, "you sat still enough until I began to tack about the Devil, but considered that a personal question !!! All laughed and the glasses were emptied.

THE STAR OF MY HOME.

BY ELIKA COOK. I remember the day when my spirit would turn. From the fairest of scenes and the sweetest of song. When the heart of the stranger seemed soldly to burn And the moments of pleasure for me were too long; For one name and one form shone in glory and it light. light, And lurked back from all that might tempt me roam;
The festal was joyons, but not so bright
As the smile of my mother, the star of my home.

I remomber the days when the tear filled my vye, And the heaving sob whilly disturbed my young breast;
But the hand of the laved one the lashes would dry, And her soorting voice hill my sharted bosom to rest. The sharpest of pain and the suddest of wors, The darkest, the deepent of shadows might come? Yet each wound had its balm, while my soul would repose.

On the heart of my mother, the star of my home! But now let me rove the wide world as I may.
There's no form to arise as a magnet for me;
I can rest with strangers, and laugh with the gay,
Content with the pathway, where'er it may be,
Let serve or pain fing their gloomiest cloud,
There's no haven to whether, no beacon to save;
For the rays that e'er led me are quenched by the shroud,
And the star of And the star of my home has gone down in the

THE BURNING SHIP.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "CRUISING IN THE LAST WAR." [concludes.]

The after cabin was much smaller, but far more luxurious than the other. It was adorned with syrything that taste could anggest or wealth afford Ottomans ran completely around it, forming a kind of divan.—At one side was a harp; beside it some music was scattered on the floor. But after the first hasty survey, I saw nothing but a group of two beings before me. One of them was a gray-heired man, apparently about sixty-five, dressed in the gentlemanly costume of a former day. He was bending wildly over the almost inanimate form of a fair girl reclining on the cushious. Never had I seen a being who looked more beautiful than that pale, half-fainted creature seemed at that moment. One arm supported her on the divan, the other was thrown around her father's neck, the blue veins just discernable as they stole along lement) the skin. The after cabin was much smaller, but far

Her head rested on the bosom of her parent, and the hair, loose and unbound, streamed in dark, glossy ringlets over her snowy shoulders. At the noise made by my entrance, she started, raised her head, and I could see through the tears that glistened on her lashes, one of the sweetest hazel eyes I have ever looked upon. A quick flush shot over her face, crimsoning it like a rose lesf as she beheld a stranger; and half starting to her feet she essayed a moment to speak, and then stood with half opened lips, gazing almost wildly upon the.

"Oh! sir, God bless you for this kindness
—there is then hope," exclaimed the old man; "but Isabel has fainted," he continued.
"Go fly, I will die with her," he cried in a voice of agony, vainly endeavoring to raise in his enfeebled arms the seemingly lifeless form of his daughter. I looked into her face. The transition TALLOW OIL.

Jioked into her face. The transition from calm despair to hope had been too great, and she had indeed fainted. It was no time to hesitate. Hastiy raising the beautiful stranger in my arms, I called upon the old man to follow, deathed into the front cabin up the companionway, and to my the companionway, and to my the companionway, and to my the companion the death of the first part of found the firs stranger in my arms, I called upon the old man to follow, dashed into the front cabin, up the companionway, and to my utter horror found the flames had just crossed the entrance. For a second I paused. Death was behind me, destruction perhaps before. Laying my hand on the old man's shoulder, I urged him ahead burriedly, threw the shawl of the fair girl around her face and form, and made a bold, desperate push for life, and in another instant, amid the cheers of my men, had gained the quarter deck. The boat shot to the side, and a dozen arms were extended to receive my burden. I carefully gave it in

Far off on the moonlight horizon lay our schooner, with all her exquiste tracery; reflected in the waves beneath, and seeming with her thin, taper-raking masts, like some erial vessel floating half-way between sea and sky. The deafening uproar, however, recalled the senses of the fair girl at my side. But I will not desoribe her gratitude, and that of her parent, to myself, whom they persisted in considering the preserver of their lives.—

Suffice it to say we were soon on board; the captain deliberately resigned his own cabin to the atrangers, and then I had Jeisure to learn some particulars concerning their history. They were easily told. Mr. Thornton, the father of Isabel, was a wealthy West India man, and was just returning from Great Britain with his daughter, who had been there for several years obtaining her education. "HEIDSIECK & CO." CHAMPAGNE. THIS CELEBRATED WINE, OF THE above well-known brand, is unsurpassed for its rich boquet and general excellence.

The varieties of brands of champagna tend greatily, no doubt, to confuse the purchaser; but lovers of good and genuine wine, must look for 'lifeldsieck & lor' in tuil on the labels, as well as on the corks and capsulos.

Thos. Hine & Co.' Brandy Vintage, 1822, Connoiseeurs of fine brandies have pronounced this to be inlive qual, if not superior to any imported into the United States during the last twenty years.

The above may be obtained of DYARD,

Wholesale Denier in Imported Brandies, Wince and Liquors, and lavana Cigars.

CINCINNATI MARKET APRIL 9280,-The Cincinnat Cincinnati Masker Agail. 22nd.—The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday morating says:

In the general markets we notice continued firmness in the provision trade, with an improving demand.—Holders poart with stocks reluctantly at current rates. About 300 bits city packed meas port sold at $17.22; holders generally asked $11,60. There was a sale of 115 hids bacon shoulders at 17.0, although they were generally held at 7.0. Light idea were obtainable at 97.0 but heavy were held at 97.09%. There was more inquiry for bulk neat, with sales of 100,060 Dr., medium sides at $20, purchased mostly by city smokers—and 100 hids, shoulders at 61/2 packed. For prime barrel lard, 10% was demanded, but there were no buyers at over 10% at which 25 bits were sold. A fair local demand for flour at $5,500,500 for superfine.—The receipts were only 180 bits against 1,575 bits exported. Orders continue to be received from the interior of the South and Western Pennytwania. Our brands receive the preference in those markets. Prime wheat was firm at full prices; spring dult at 1,1002, 21. Corn firm and in good demand at 440.45 for ear, in bulk. Prime barley was more impulred for, and it sold at $00.25. Inderior qualities were dull and irregular. Outs firm at 450.46, in bulk.

Buryako Marker, Aratt 21st.—(From the Commercial Advertiser)—Flour—The market continues to relevery quiet; and prices remain stendy. Sales since our last 100.213 for aparting and at 5.5 for State from spring wheat $4,90.50,12 for aparting and chief, and $5,51.60.

New Omerans Market, April 1944.—(By telegraph to Cincinnati.)—Flour—A good demand and holders saking ligher prices; 4,000 bbls sold, closing at $5,75 $25,20 for superfine. The Whelf Crof in Ohio and Kenticky. The Cincinnati Guestie of Menday, says:

Verbal and written reports of the wheat crop, received through the country necessant during the week, are quite natisfactory. The late favorable weather has been also also also be also been also been also been also been also been also been and the property of the market of the month, and where the crops were not injured, they present a fine appearance. These accounts agree with reports copied in another place from exchanges. In some places where there was slovenly farming, the yield under the most favorable discussional and the present are favorable for a satisfactory between the same affects of a streams are all high, and bottom breage. Hains have fallen in abundance within the last two weeks. The streams are all high, and bottom isods are, in a large extent under waters. Dry weather is now needed, to onable farmers to complete their spring work. This we stail probably laves, it being clear and cool at present writings. Corn planting time is at hand—and a busy time is will be for three weeks to come. Preparations have been made for planting a greater breadth of land than in any previous year, and with a favorable season, a corresponding yield may be anticipated.—With reference to the general agricultural prospects of the West, we may say in a word, that the prospects are most encouraging.

The Bertise Coan Trade.—The more gental weather THE WHEAT CROP IN OHID AND KENTUCEY. - The Cin-

The Brillse Coan Traide.—The more genial weather of the pass week, with but little rain, has done much in forwarding all field operations. A good deal of spring corn has been well got in, but the long prevalence of frosty weather has left the soil too cold for much growth in the young wheat; while more continued aunthine is in the young wheat; while more continued aunthine is wanted to eart the grass in the meadows. vary as to the appearance of the wheat plant, some being as favorable as others are discouraging. The ten accounts are from the light and dry lands of Nortfelk, and the worst from the light and dry lands of Nortfelk, and the worst from the low clays, so that prospects generally do not exceed an average upon the autuennal sowing. Lateness is the feature of the sext in pits with less sown than usual there must be a proportionate reduction in the gatherloss. The recent gradual advance, gained with difficulty, has been followed by a larger husiness than has been experienced for some time past; catabilishing a rise of fully of 25 per quarter in the course of the week. Sind, from form millers not raising their beat quality four, the advance in Mark Lane has been followed by a caim. The riso here has, however, river a attinuits to the French markets, which had begin to flag, and there is no doubt not such an influence will be generally extended, both the sughout Europe and America. Emiliantiting, however, not having yet especially of continents advicery including Odessa, have very little changed. The difficulty of transit keeps the Spanish and Neapolitan markets very unequal; but so great is the want of Wheat in the Interior of the kingdom of Naples, that Maize is being freely used as a substitute, and large orders are taid to be sent to Olessa on account of Government—In addition, though, to the prospects of a fair crop in Scathern Europe, the Wheat is a fair to be a solid to be looking unusually promising.

The raise noted has week were 120,029 get Wheat at should, against 50,217 gra in 1850. The London averages were affelted on 3,716 grs. The imports into the principal ports of Great British for the week ending 21ct March, in Wheat and Flour, were equal to 10,022 grs Wheat. — Mark Line Express, April 2. The following memorandum. From Capiain Kelly, of the schooner Shoot, was sent to the Custom House this morning?

On Lake Huron on the 19th inst., nt 12:30 a.m., picked up a small boat called the Queen of the Ware, with two men drowned in her. The boat was full of water. Che of the men was lying in the bottom of the boat and the other lying on top of the thwares on his breast. On Friday, 20th, at 5:30 p. m., bowered my boat and put sour men and the mate ashore to bury them on Thunder Bay Island. There was nollning on their persons that they could be identified by. One of them had on a pair of biack pants, house made lannel drawers, and two lickory shirts, and one red striped Rannel shirt and lineary frock, with a toe yashe on his right boot. Seemed to be about wenty exers of age; light submrt hair with little whiskers. The other man was dressed in one red flannel shirt, one hiskory shirt and lineary frock lined with red flannel, black lasting very, or farmer? satin, pair of red flannel drawers, we pair bagging pants, one large II on the fore part of leftleg of pants, and H on the losde of left leg, one small H on the leg of pants. Coler of hair andure, with a small goates on chin. Seemingly 20 years old. But apparently brothers. The boat twas pleked up about ten miles ghove Yoresville, shout the miles of the land.
